Dear Santa, Are You for Real? P. A. Milko

When ten year old Jacob Baker starts to question his belief in the Jolly 'ole elf known as Santa, an exchange of heartfelt letters between the two quickly erase all his doubt. "Dear Santa, Are You for Real?" is a tender short story brimming with candid questions and entertaining answers:

"Santa, I was wondering if I could ask you a few questions so that I can be as sure about you now as I was way back when I was little. You know it's easy to be sure of stuff when you don't wonder so hard about it. When you wonder too much all this extra stuff jumps in. Anyway, I think because I'm ten now, you know, double digits, well, maybe the wonder in me is different somehow. Maybe it's working more - like overtime. Maybe it's growing up too."

When Santa kindheartedly answers all of Jacob's questions in a wonderfully straightforward, yet amusing approach, Jacob responds effortlessly with a full-fledged inquiry only a ten year old could construct:

How do you get around the whole world in just one night?

Do you really eat all those cookies and drink all that milk?

Santa, are there things that even you can't do?

Do you like dogs or cats better?

Could you do anything you wanted when you were a kid?

How many reindeer do you have?

How long did it take you to grow your beard?

Santa, what would you like for Christmas?

Have you ever been chased out of a house by the family dog?

...And many more!

Lighthearted and fun, "Dear Santa, Are you for Real?" is a modern day tale wrapped up in an age old question.
